

PPI Quality & Engineering

Invites You to Attend

Industry Seminar | 16 October 2026 | Marriott Hotel, Georgetown

Delivering Execution Reliability and Building National Value for Guyana

Since 2018, PPI has supported Guyana's offshore petroleum development across the global supply chain, including well construction, subsea and offshore execution, FPSO installation, onshore fabrication and project management — from first wells, Liza Destiny, onward.

Please join us for a practical industry seminar examining the critical role of Quality Assurance, Quality Control, Third-Party Inspection and Execution Reliability across the full oil and gas project lifecycle.

The seminar will explore business and career opportunities within this critical segment of the energy sector, while also examining how Local Content and growing Guyanese technical capability can help protect and expand the long-term value of the nation's petroleum resources.

Building national value means, in part, developing Guyanese technical competence, professional standards, institutional knowledge, business services and increasingly sophisticated local participation throughout the energy value chain.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Industry professionals seeking to better understand Execution Reliability, ISO 9001 and other Quality Management System practices used across the oil and gas sector;
- Career-minded individuals seeking to understand employment and professional development opportunities in Quality Assurance, Quality Control, Inspection and related technical services;
- Vendors, suppliers and local businesses interested in supporting this important segment of the oil and gas value chain;
- International Oil Company and contractor personnel seeking to broaden their understanding of quality management, inspection and execution reliability; and
- Government and public-sector personnel with an interest in Quality Management Systems, technical assurance, Local Content and the development of national capability.

PPI Trinidad is a member of the Kiwa group of Testing, Inspection, and Certification group of companies. Operating in more than 35 countries, we create trust for a better tomorrow.

Quality is more than inspection or certification.

It is a foundation for execution reliability and building national value.

From Guyana's First Oil to the Future — Execution Reliability. Technical Competence. National Value.
